Welcome

Stephen Perse

— Cambridge —

Hello and welcome to Stephen Perse Cambridge. Founded in the 19th century, our school has a long history of academic excellence.

Based in the city of Cambridge, United Kingdom - where the likes of Sir Isaac Newton, Charles Darwin, and Stephen Hawking have studied - we aspire to take our unique Cambridge education international.

We have assembled a team of staff and advisors with relevant experience to make this happen, and we hope you are interested in coming on that journey with us.

We are actively looking for investors and partners to open a Stephen Perse Cambridge International School. Please contact me at principal@stephenperse.com to discuss this further.

Technology pioneers

Stephen Perse

— Cambridge —

We are an academically rigorous school which is reflected in our student's grades and university destinations.

As well as being of particular strength in STEM subjects, we have gained a reputation as being technology pioneers, being early adopters of iPads and remote learning, and are now transforming our business and teaching and learning through AI.

However there is much more to our schools than this, as we strive to develop our students to be responsible global citizens, who will go on to make a positive contribution to society.
